

TURTLE FOUNDATION - SEA TURTLE CONSERVATION IN INDONESIA

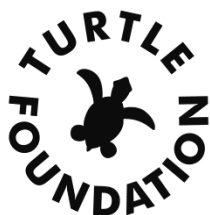

Sea turtles are at risk of extinction. Nowadays, four of seven known species of sea turtle are present in Indonesia. Two of them are critically endangered. The population size of these reptiles has been decreasing; in fact there are places where the decrease has reached 90 % during the last 50 years (East Kalimantan, Sumatra)! Behind this are human activities: collecting of turtle eggs for market where it is sold as a special delicacy to tourists, destruction of turtle beaches by hotels, sale of tortoiseshell souvenir on local markets and the water pollution. Turtles have been also suffering by destructive fishing practices as they die caught in trawl nets. A protection of sea turtles declared by both international conventions or by Indonesian law is ineffective. Let's join those who help!

The Turtle Foundation is an international charitable organization which operates its own sea turtle protection project in Indonesia.

Our vision: A future where sea turtles and their habitats are sustainably protected, healthy, and safe from threat of extinction and destruction.

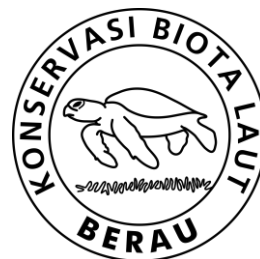

Our mission: To contribute to sea turtle conservation at our own project sites by cooperating with local communities to create a future where both sea turtles and people can survive.

Important information for volunteers

THE VOLUNTEER WILL HAVE TO CARRY ON DIFFERENT ACTIVITIES:

On the islands (Bilang-bilangan, Mataha):

Your duties will include monitoring the nesting beaches either during the night or early in the morning. In the afternoon, other activities such as collecting waste on the beach, collecting data on the beach helping rangers with making turtle souvenirs or Ranger's house maintenance etc. will be carried out.

Duties:

General duties for program participants will include:

- 1) Beach patrols for nesting turtles - patrols are undertaken each night at varying hours and in the early morning. The patrols serve several functions and may last between 4 - 6 hours. You can help rangers with:
 - searching for nesting activity and nesting turtles;
 - searching for any evidence of nests hatching;
 - collecting data on nesting turtles and nesting events;
 - checking nests already laid;
 - searching for any turtle stranding, whether sick or dead;
 - looking out for illegal poachers on the beach and report them to the rangers.
 - Occasionally turtles lay their eggs in unsuitable places. In such cases, rangers relocated the nest to a new site and the eggs are carefully moved and re-buried. After the nest has hatched we do a survey of the hatching success rate, which involves nest excavation and analysis of the shells left.
- 2) Collecting waste on the beach
- 3) Helping rangers in Ranger's house (repairing the house, cleaning, cooking, making turtle souvenirs, teaching the local rangers English - a group of about six people, adults and beginners)

TRAINING

No special qualifications and experience are necessary except that all volunteers should have high motivation and must be willing to work hard in warm and humid conditions. Be sure that you can stay and work hard in warm and humid conditions before your coming. You also need to be friendly and communicative, be able to work in a group with local Indonesian rangers and live on the islands with only a few people, mainly locals. English and Indonesian are only accepted languages.

LIVING CONDITIONS

Accommodation depends on where you are stay. On islands volunteers will stay in tents or in the Ranger's houses which are equipped with very basics kitchen and WC (Asian style WC – using of toilet paper is prohibited). You can have an Asian style shower in the toilet too. Electricity is working only a few hours a day. Be sure that you can live in simple conditions like this). In the villages of Balikukup, Lenggo or Tanjung Redeb volunteers will stay in homestay. The accommodation will be simple and clean, but be prepared to live a simple lifestyle during your stay. You will be on very remote beaches and communities, and need to be prepared to live without night life, shops, television, etc. and with limited variations of food. FOOD:

In islands the Turtle Foundation provides the ingredients for breakfast, lunch and dinner. Filtered water is always available for drinking purposes. Meals are prepared by the participants (they take turns a rotating scale) and rice, pasta and fish are the basic ingredients. Food served on islands is basic. If rangers are cooking, rice and fish are also ingredients for breakfast and they serve it in 10 a.m. "Goodies" such as proper coffee/tea, biscuits, sodas, cereals, and fresh fruit (on the daily basis) are not provided, so you should bring some with you if you believe they are essential. In this case please buy all what you need in Tanjung Redeb (please think about what you will buy because there is only one fridge in the island and it is working only when electricity is on).

CULTURE

In the villages of Balikukup, Lenggo, Tanjung Redeb and on islands you will be based in a small community of rangers on the islands or in a small village, and you should be open and prepared to live respecting local Indonesian culture and habits. The villagers are not used to having foreigners in the village living with them. You might find the local's daily habits different from yours (you can hear Islamic prayer several times a day in villages), but please consider that we are all different and should respect the culture of the country where we are. The exchange of culture and different way of seeing things enriches ourselves and brings positive effects. Women are kindly asked to respect the local community culture and dress discreetly and conservatively at all times. Despite the warm climate, most locals wear long clothing as opposed to shorts and t-shirts. We recommend long pants, 3/4 trousers and long skirts rather than shorts or short skirts. We also advise to keep your shoulders covered (please wear T-shirts with sleeves. No tank tops or shorts). Women will receive more unwanted attention if they do not dress conservatively. Going nude at beaches is illegal in Indonesia. No alcohol consumption is allowed. Volunteers always have to follow instruction of the Volunteer Coordinator.

Since there is no external funding to support the expenses of volunteers and coordinating the exchange, volunteers are expected to pay a participation fee. In islands the participation fee is used in order to cover the expenses of food and water, in other days the fee is used for make financial contribution to cover transportation. Program fees will be approximately 12 EUR (150 000 IDR in local currency) starting by first day when you meet the Volunteer Coordinator until you left the Volunteer Coordinator.

OTHER

- Luggage may not arrive with the plane due to airline failure. We recommend that you bring with you a carry-on bag with a change of clothes, along with your cards, documents and personal medicines.
- There is no waste disposal system in project area that works. That's why everybody is responsible for taking back home all toxic waste (as e.g. batteries, empty shampoo bottles, etc.) that has accumulated during his/her stay, for proper disposal.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What kind of healthy care we should take before traveling? Do we need any vaccines?

Each one should have their vaccines updated. If you have dental problems, you should visit a dentist before travel. Volunteers with asthma or allergies problems should look for medical advice and the necessary medication.

Three daily meals will be provided in islands of Bilang-bilangan and Mataha. What kind of food is served?

Meals are prepared by the participants (they take turns in a rotating scale) and the Turtle Foundation provides the ingredients. Rice, pasta and fish are the basic ingredients.

How is the water quality?

Water used on islands is bought from the mainland or overdone rain water. (In both cases it is drinking water). In the villages of Balikukup, Lenggo or Tanjung Redeb we recommend you to buy drinking water.

Are the accommodation on islands and 3 daily meals on islands covered by the participation fee?

YES, in a self-catering system (food is provided, participants prepare the meals). In the village of Balikukup, Lenggo and Tanjung Redeb volunteers cover their own expenses.

How basic is the accommodation on islands?

Ranger's houses on islands are equipped with very basics kitchen and WC. Drinking water is provided, but of course water supply for showering and washing will be limited, main reasons is that islands are hard to access and they do not count with an own source of water. Each ranger's house has a small fridge and a small electric power generator which will work during 2-3 hours/day. It is not necessary to bring your own cup, plate, fork and spoon.

Are the islands safe?

Our islands are very safe due to the fact that only rangers and volunteers stay on the islands during both day and night.

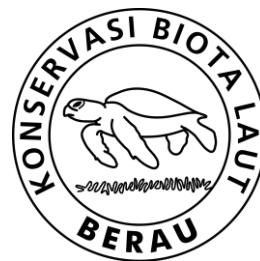

Is the garbage recycled?

No, all garbage of the island is incinerated. That's why we ask volunteers to take back home their toxic waste on a proper disposal.
